The National Energy Information Center (NEIC) is the public information service of the Energy Information Administration (EIA), the independent statistical and analytical agency within the U. S. Department of Energy (DOE). The NEIC makes available information on energy sources, reserves, production, consumption, distribution, imports, exports, and related economic and statistical information—historical, current and projected.

The NEIC responds to inquiries by letter, telephone, and E-mail, and welcomes visitors to the NEIC Reading Room at the U. S. DOE headquarters in Washington, DC. The Center provides:

- Energy statistics, analysis, and forecasts
- EIA data and analysis publications
- Directories of EIA publications, survey forms, and computer models
- Fact sheets and publications for the non-technical reader
- E-mail subscription, including press releases and summary reports
- Documentation of EIA computer models
- Information about EIA and its programs

EIA Web Site: www.eia.doe.gov
